Duck Hunters Busy On Flats

Several week-end hunting parties from Wrangell visited the Stikine flats Saturday and Sunday in pursuit of the wary waterfowl. H. Gartley, Leo McCormack and J. E. Worden made the trip with Richard Hofstad on the Helen and T. H. Cunningham, C. A. Jackson and J. D. Dawes were over on the Redwing. Both parties secured ducks and got stuck on the flats and had a general good time.

It's Here

Possibly some old timer will recall seeing an English Sparrow in Wrangell but the report of M. Katzenmeyer, who saw a pair at the Post Office Building this morning will jog several memories that cannot recall seeing them in Wrangell.

Skagway had the first flower show in Alaska last Saturday.

A.-B's. Make Smoke

Camp Wrangell, No. 28 had a social smoker last night at the lodge rooms in Red Men's Hall. Their membership was well represented and all report a fine time.

Progressives Select Delegate

At the local primary meeting of the Progressive Party last Friday evening, Rev. H. P. Corser was selected as the Wrangell representative at the party convention to be held in Juneau October 4th. As the Wrangell delegate is unopposed as to supporting any particular candidate, Mr. Corser is free to propose any or no name in the convention but stated to the Sentinel man that unless the convention was antagonistic to the candidacy of N. J. Svindseth, he would place his name in nomination.

Machinery for Columbia & Northern arrives on Spokane Sunday

The long-looked-for machinery for the Columbia & Northern Fishing & Packing Company's freezing plant was shipped north on the Spokane and landed on the company's wharf Sunday. The apparatus consisting of a 60 h. p. boiler, direct connected engine and ammonia compressor and Sharpe freezing outfit, will be installed immediately and made ready to take care of the fresh halibut catch which heretofore has been shipped packed in glacier ice. Mr. Albright, who installed the small plant at the Wrangell Meat Market last spring, has charge of the installation of the plant.

In addition to the brewery building, which has been greatly altered inside and out, a cooper shop and repacking room and a house for the boiler and engine have been started at either end. With the completion of the buildings and the installation of freezing machinery and private electric lighting and telephone service, the Wrangell plant of the Columbia & Northern will be one of the best equipped of its kind in Alaska and able to take care of the fresh and salt fish that will naturally be turned in this direction.

Fishermen Meet Adopt By Laws

A mass meeting of the South Eastern Alaska Fishermen's Association has been called for 7 o'clock this evening. A constitution for the association is to be adapted

Prospecting Trip To Iskut River

Wm. Lewis and Wm. Fletcher started on a prospecting trip to the Iskut River where, from indications seen on a former trip, they believe they can locate some valuable claims.

We Want A Rock Pile

Now is the season when cultus persons commit trivial crimes with the intention of being detected and receiving free board and lodging through the disagreeable winter months at the hands of Uncle Sam. What we should have is a hard labor provision in jail sentences which we believe would put a stop to this disgraceful and expensive practice of the unscrupulous wearies who would put her hard over it there was a rock pile on the chart.

Getting The Limit

Much comment has been started by the 25 duck limit of the new game regulations. The proximity of Wrangell to the Stikine flats happy hunting ground make it possible for good sportsmen to shoot 25 ducks or more. They should be observant as to the letter of the law for personal opinion as to intent is too various to be considered.

Not Just What He Meant

A well-known divine was lecturing one Sunday morning on the subject of "The Great and Small Things of Creation" and in illustration said: "The Creator of this immense universe created also the smallest atom in it. The Architect of the mountains fashioned also the tiniest thread of gold running through them. The God who made me made a daisy."—Ex.

British Steamers.

Nearly 8,500 steamers. With a gross tonnage of over 17,000,000, sail under the British flag.

The World of Letters.

"In what is literature?" "Literature is writing printed in an expensive manner."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Clergy in Belgium.

The clergy in Belgium are allowed three votes on the ground of "superior education."

The Retort Courteous.

"Will you promise to support my daughter in the style to which she is accustomed if I consent to your marriage?" demanded old Skinfint when Dobby made his formal proposal. "Well, I—I'll promise to be tolerably close with her, Mr. Skinfint," said Dobby, "but, you know, I'm a soft hearted cuss, and I'm afraid she'll wheedle a few things out of me that you were strong enough to refuse her." And, strange to say, from that moment on, Skinfint was unalterably opposed to the match.—Judge.

Fate and the Names of Ships.

If present day sailors were superstitious they would doubtless hesitate to ship on a vessel whose name ends in "le." Steamships with this termination to their names that have been wrecked include the Arctic, lost in 1854; the Pacific, in 1856; the Atlantic, in 1873; the Naronic, in 1893; the Republic, in 1909, and the Titanic. On the other hand, good luck seems to follow vessels whose names end in "in." for it is said that one company with a fleet of "in" ships has never lost one of them.—Exchange.

The Life of a File.

One cannot discard a file whenever it has lost its first keenness, but there comes a time, much sooner than is usually supposed, when an old file does not pay. It is not difficult to calculate when this time has come. Say a man receives 25 cents an hour and is using a file that costs 25 cents. Whenever the use of an old file takes that man half as long again to do a piece of work as a new file would take, then in three hours' work with an old file the price of a new file has been lost. The time to throw away the old file has come before that stage was reached. Blacksmith and Wheelwright.

The Traitors' Gate.

One of the most famous entrances in the world is doubtless the ancient Traitors' gate, in the Tower of London. It was through this portal for several centuries that traitors were conducted from the shores of the river Thames into the tower. To Americans probably the most familiar of these unfortunates was Sir Walter Raleigh.

Herod's Love For Marianna.

Herod the Great loved Marianna, his wife, so devotedly that when he was summoned to Rome by Augustus to answer certain charges made against him and was afraid he might never return he left her in care of three trusted servants, with orders that if he himself were put to death by Augustus she was to be immediately killed.

The Word "Nugget."

"Nugget" was formerly used to signify a bit or lump of anything, as a "nugget of tobacco." Nowadays, however, it is used principally of gold as it comes from the mine. This use is Australian. Governor Sir William Denison of Australia wrote in 1852, "In many instances the gold is brought to market in lumps or nuggets, as they are called."

Chinese Sausages.

In China sausages are made of meat from the hind thighs of hogs, which are chopped fine, mixed with four drams of sugar, rice wine and table salt, eight drams of soy and a pinch of pepper to every one and one-third pounds and dried in the sun until ready for lining. Dried oysters and ducks' livers are added to some varieties.

Lovers' Presents In Spain.
Spanish lovers present their fiancées with fans on which they have written the most impassioned poetry, embroidered garters with love mottoes woven in silk and innumerable boxes of sweets. Engagement rings are not given, the bride elect receiving instead a gold medal, which she wears suspended from a chain around her neck.

Taking a Chance.
"Is that picture one of the old masters you were telling me about?" asked Mr. Cumrox.
"Yes," replied the art dealer. "It is a genuine treasure—absolutely authentic."
"I'll buy it. I already have three just like it, and somewhere in the bunch I'm liable to hit the original."—Washington Star.

The Most Accurate Frontier.
As an instance of the jealousy existing in the relations between Norway and Sweden it may be noted that the boundary line between the two countries is the most minutely exact in Europe. In every parish touched by the line there is deposited an elaborate plan which is renewed every ten years, the whole of the work of surveying, etc., being carefully repeated each time.

Frail Human Nature.
The judge was in a rage. "I hear," he thundered, "that bets have been made on the result of this case. I won't have such a state of things. All gambling must be stopped within the jurisdiction of this court."
"But you a fiver it can't be done!" said the counsel for the defense.
"Put up your money," said the judge, reaching for his purse.—Pearson's.

At Her Word.
"Why do you not come to me for advice any more?" said the medium to her former regular customer.
"Well," said he, "the last time I was there you told me that if I wished to save enough to get married on I must stop spending money foolishly, and I took you at your word."—New York Press.

One Family of 20,000,000.
The rapidity with which rats multiply is the main reason why man appears to make so little headway in their destruction. It is calculated that a single pair of rats and their progeny, breeding without interruption and suffering no losses, would in three years increase to more than 20,000,000.—Baker's Weekly.

Realistic.
Mrs. Brush—Did you see my husband's painting, "The Country Road," at the exhibition?
Mrs. Painter—No, I did not. Was it good?
"Why, it was so natural they had to oil the road every day to keep the dust from going on everything."—Youkers Statesman

Landlord and Tenants.
Visitor (at poorhouse): Where did that fine looking pauper come from?
Superintendent—The city. He owns the St. Fashion flats.
"My goodness! Why is he here?"
"He charges such high rents that they have been empty since the second year."
"Hum! He seems to be on familiar footing with a good many of the other paupers."
"Yes; they are the people who were his tenants the first year."—Buffalo News.

Napoleon Before the Convention.
When Barras introduced Napoleon to the convention as a fit man to be entrusted with the command the president asked:
"Are you willing to undertake the defense of the convention?"
"Yes," was the reply.
After a time the president continued, "Are you aware of the magnitude of the undertaking?"
"Perfectly," replied Napoleon, fixing his eyes upon his questioner, "and I am in the habit of accomplishing that which I undertake."

A Mother's Retort.

Dr. Breckenridge, a well known American clergyman, and his two brothers, also of the same profession, one day paid a visit to their mother.

"Do you not think, mother," said he, "that you ruled us with too rigid a rod in our boyhood? It would have been better, I think, had you used gentler methods."

The old lady straightened up and said, "Well, William, when you have raised up three as good preachers as I have then you can talk!"

To Cure Scars.

Scars are often very ugly things and disagreeable marks when they exist in a prominent place on the skin. Probably nothing can remove a big scar the tissue of which has become fibrous and unyielding, but the following recipe, to be applied on lint and allowed to remain on the part for a little time daily, will effect an improvement in small scars and blemishes: Borax, one and a half ounces; salicylic acid, twelve grains; glycerin, three drams; rosewater, six ounces. Mix.

Sennit.

In Polynesia and the Pacific Islands generally the outer husk of the coconut is braided into strands of uniform texture, known to the natives as sennit and used by them for a variety of purposes. The framework of their houses is held together by braided sennit, and the strakes of their boats are united by it. It is the staple from which string is made to bind the adze blade to its handle and to tie the different parts of their implements securely together. In short, whatever things are nailed or screwed or pegged or glued in other lands are tied together with sennit by the south sea islander.

Keeping an Eye on the Fee.

The prisoner was charged with so trivial an offense that the judge told him that if he would plead guilty he would let him off with a fine.

"Before we plead guilty," replied the man's lawyer, "we'd like to know what the fine will be."

"Isn't it rather unusual to attempt to bargain with the court?" asked the judge.

"Perhaps it is, your honor," replied the lawyer, "but in this case it is important. You see, the prisoner has only $12, and as my fee is $10 we can't afford to plead guilty if you intend to fine him more than $2."—Youth's Companion.

Dueling in Old Ireland.

In the old days dueling was almost a pastime among the Irish squires. It was the dessert to the dinner. There is the story of the Galway gentleman who was seen practicing with a pistol in his back garden. And the explanation, "I've a dinner party of friends this evening, and I am getting my pistol hand into practice." One recalls, too, Mr. MacDonagh's note of a dying squire's last words of advice to his son. "God bless you, my boy!" he said. "I leave you nothing but debts and mortgages. But I'll give you one piece of advice—never drink with your back to the fire and never fight a duel with your face to the sun."—London Chronicle.

Duffer—My wife got a liver out of me today with one happy remark. Puffer—Let's have it. Duffer—She told our boy Willie that she was his nearest relative, but that I was his closest.—Indianapolis Star.

Couldn't Deny It.

"You're a two faced man," exclaimed the disappointed office seeker. "I'm not afraid to tell you so."

"Two faced?" smiled the eminent statesman. "My dear friend, I am worse than that. The papers have printed fifty different portraits of me, and no two of them look alike."—Chicago Tribune.

Probably.

The witness testified that he had been knocked down by a motorcar and that the chauffeur, who was joy riding had given no warning of his approach.

"Do you mean," asked the judge, "that he didn't have a horn?"

"No, your honor," replied the witness; "I think he'd had too many."—Judge

LIVE WITH A PURPOSE.

Seize then the minutes as they pass. The wool of life is thought. Warm up the colors, let them glow by fire or fancy draught. Live to some purpose, make thy life a gift of use to thee—a joy, a good, a golden hope, a heavenly argosy.—Coleridge.
